OPEN: Welcome to THE SCOOP, your dose of entertainment news,

I am Starr McKay and this is 90.5 THE FLAVA!

LEAD: Ruth E. Carter has made Oscar history and created some of the most iconic looks in film.

STORY:

With her fifth Oscar nomination for Sinners, legendary costume designer Ruth E. Carter officially makes history, becoming the most-nominated Black woman in Academy Awards history.

Carter has crafted costumes for films such as, Malcolm X, Selma, The Butler, and now Sinners, building a career over four decades long.

In an interview with E! News, Carter says, “As much as I’m telling historic stories, I’m also making my own historic story.”

The winner two Oscars for Black Panther and Black Panther: Wakanda Forever, the 65-year-old’s creative vision has propelled Sinners to become the most-nominated film of the year, with 16 nominations.

The 98th Academy Awards will be held on Sunday, March 15 live on ABC at 7 PM.

Tell me Which of Ruth E. Carter’s iconic designs is your favorite?
